

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention provides a template book to assist an individual in drawing images or shapes on a drawing surface more accurately than if the individual were to attempt to draw the same images or shapes by freehand. A 5 number of template pages are provided in the form of a template book wherein each template page includes a plurality of foldably attached template sheets which form a drawing template when folded out over a drawing surface.